DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The MPEP 2106.02 states:

Claims to processes that do nothing more than solve mathematical problems or manipulate abstract ideas or concepts are complex to analyze and are addressed herein. If the “acts” of a claimed process manipulate only numbers, abstract concepts or ideas, or signals representing any of the foregoing, the acts are not being applied to appropriate subject matter. Gottschalk v. Benson, 409 U.S. 63, 71 - 72, 175 USPQ 673, 676 (1972). Thus, a process consisting solely of mathematical operations, i.e., converting one set of numbers into another set of numbers, does not manipulate appropriate subject matter and thus cannot constitute a statutory process. In practical terms, claims define nonstatutory processes if they:

consist solely of mathematical operations without some claimed practical application (i.e., executing a “mathematical algorithm”); or simply manipulate abstract ideas, e.g., a bid (Schrader, 22 F.3d at 293-94, 30 USPQ2d at 1458-59) or a bubble hierarchy (Warmerdam, 33 F.3d at 1360, 31 USPQ2d at 1759), without some claimed practical application.

Claim 1 of the present application recites method steps that read on a computer algorithm for processing collected data. As a result, this claim may be directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The test for a claim meeting the 35 USC 101 judicial exceptions is as follows:

A claimed invention is directed to a practical application of a 35 U.S.C. 101 judicial exception when it:

Art Unit: 3663

(A)“transforms” an article or physical object to a different state or thing; or

(B)otherwise produces a useful, concrete and tangible result, based on the factors discussed below.

To overcome the 35 USC 101 rejection, applicant is required to point out the limitations of claim 1 that meet either A or B above.
